

ETAG Cross Channel Lunch 22.6.13

Not only was it a very rough day, but also there was a breakdown in the tunnel just before we were due to leave the Folkestone terminal, so we were an hour late arriving at the Chateau de Cocove, where our aperitifs and canapés awaited. The food that followed was nothing less than brilliant, to be capped off by a towering cream birthday gâteau for a last minute surprise, confectioned at The Grand earlier in the day!

Because of the delay we had to skip the return ferry crossing – which in any event was disrupted by the rough weather and an opposition ferry crashing into a loading ramp holing it below the waterline!
