H.G. WELLS FESTIVAL

Invitation

This is to invite you to the Press Launch Day for the first annual H G Wells Festival, details of which will be announced at The Grand on The Leas from 5.45pm on Friday 20 March. We do hope you will be able to come.

Months of planning, involving many local organisations, promise to provide, on Saturday and Sunday, September 19 & 20, a memorable local celebration of the work, 100 years ago, of Folkestone's most celebrated author.

From the flyers attached, you will see that the central feature of the Festival, intended to encourage local literacy, is the announcement of an annual £1000 prize for a short story written in the style of H G Wells with a local background. The donor of the Award, Sandgate author and veteran BBC Aerospace Correspondent Reginald Turnill, and other Festival sponsors, will be among those at the Launch available to provide details and interviews if required.

We look forward to seeing you there.
