

In brief*'Sludge plant' protests gather momentum

SELLINDGE people are to protest against plans to build a "sludge plant" near the village. Kent County Council officers have recommended that a scheme to build an anaerobic digester at Otterpool Quarry be approved at a meeting on Tuesday, March 15.

Campaigners have organised minibuses to County Hall in Maidstone next week to voice their concerns.

Buses will leave the village hall at 8.30am. To book a place, contact Margaret Ludlow on 01303 813369.

Champagne cream tea

THE Grand in Folkestone is now catering for more tastes with its traditional cream teas.

Customers with coeliac disease or wheat intolerance can now try a gluten-free fruit scone.

Meanwhile those with a little extra cash can try the Dom Perignon Grand cream tea, which includes a bottle of vintage champagne and costs £200.
